Student Stories

Journey of Students

Suraj Muniya

Class 12, Haryana

Suraj Muniya, a Class 12 student from Ratamba village in Jhabua district, Madhya Pradesh, comes from a low-income family with limited academic support and exposure. Before joining AIM for Seva in 2017, he lacked discipline, direction, and motivation toward education.

Since becoming part of the Chatralayam, Suraj has undergone a remarkable transformation through structured living, mentorship, and value-based learning. He has developed discipline, stronger academic focus, and essential life skills such as respectful communication and self-awareness. Today, he continues his studies with confidence and purpose, aspiring to become a teacher and improve access to education in his village.

A. Bablu

Class 05, Uttar Pradesh

A. Bablu, a Class 5 student from a financially challenged farming family, struggled with limited academic support and poor schooling in his village, leaving him disengaged and at risk of falling behind.

Since joining the Chatralayam in 2022, he has shown remarkable progress. In a structured and nurturing environment, with dedicated mentorship and value-based learning, Bablu has developed discipline, improved his academic performance—especially in Hindi and Mathematics—and regained interest in his studies. Today, he is a confident and motivated learner who dreams of becoming a teacher, reflecting how timely support can transform uncertainty into hope and purpose.

Alumni Stories

From Limited Resources To Limitless Dreams - AIM for Seva Changed My Journey!

Siddharth Shukla, an alumnus of the AIM for Seva Chatralayams in Narmadapuram and Kareli, Madhya Pradesh comes from Vikrampur village in Dindori district, Madhya Pradesh, where limited opportunities made higher education difficult. After joining the Chhatralayam in 2012, he found not only academic support but also discipline, values, and confidence through a structured way of life.

With AIM for Seva's continued support, he completed his D.Ed. in Elementary Education, earned Master's degrees in two subjects, and cleared the Madhya Pradesh Teacher Selection Examination 2023 with First Division. Today, he proudly serves as a teacher—fulfilling a dream once beyond reach.

Sapna Thakur

Operation Theatre Specialist, MP

AIM for Seva didn't just educate me - it shaped who I am today.

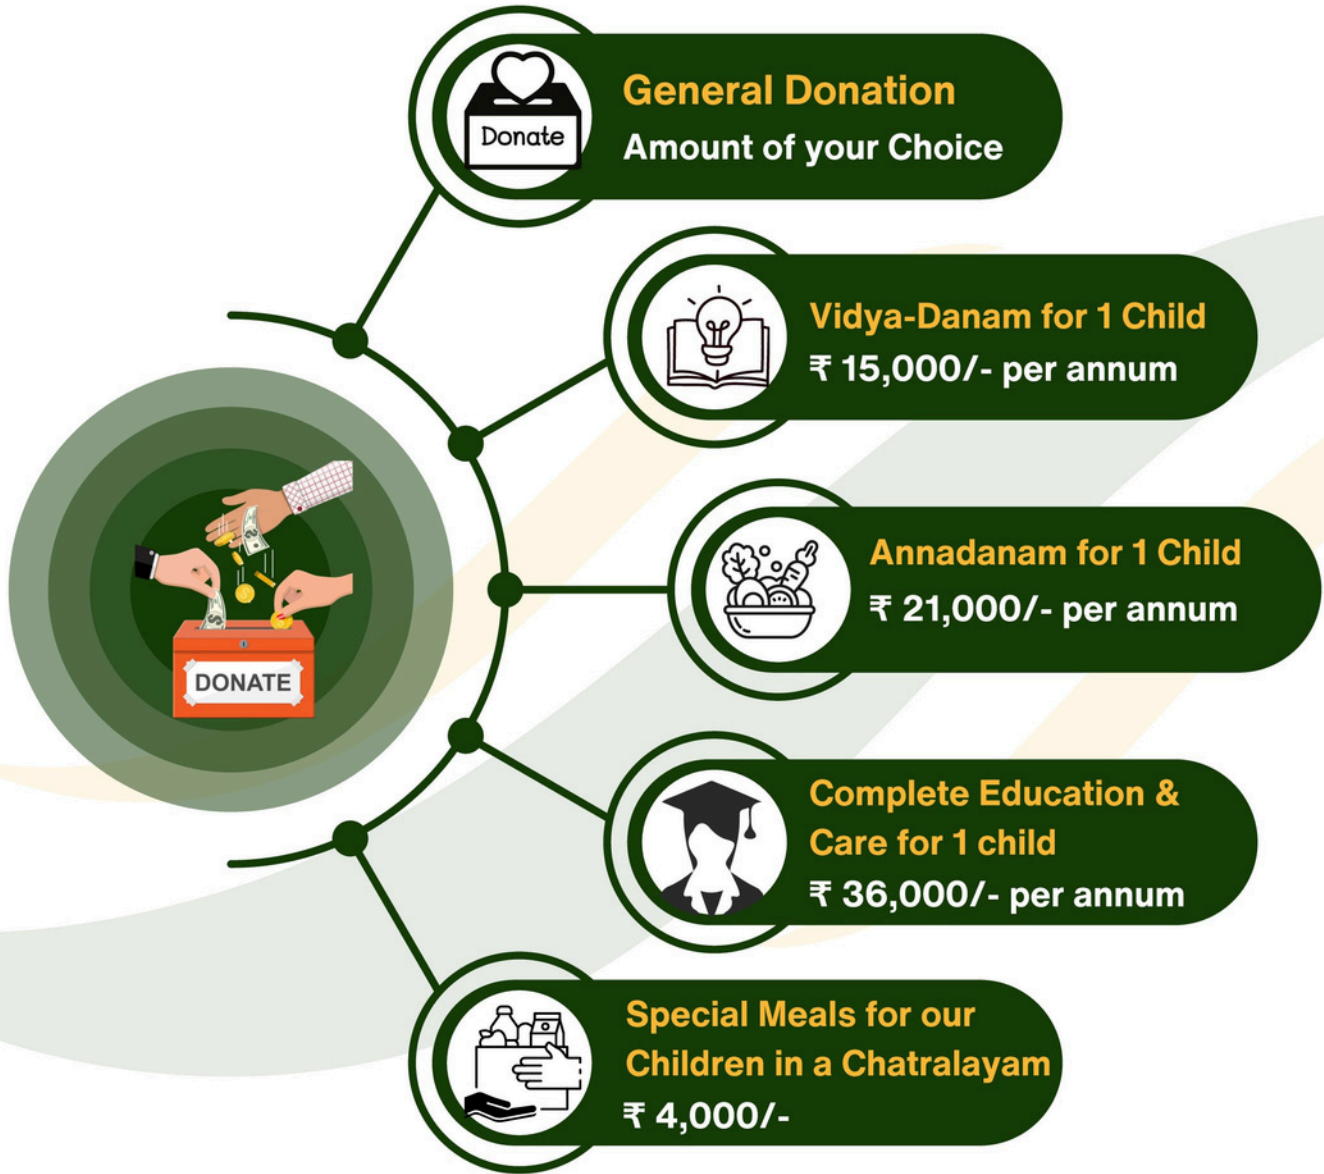

Sapna Thakur, an alumna of the AIM for Seva Chatralayam in Khategaon, Madhya Pradesh, comes from Bahadra village in Dhar District, Madhya Pradesh. She joined the Chatralayam in 2010 as a Class 6 student and completed her schooling there through Class 12.

Those formative years gave her not only education, but also discipline, confidence, values, and a spirit of service. With this strong foundation, Sapna completed her B.Sc. from Mata Jijabai Girls PG College, Indore, and pursued a course in Operation Theatre Technology. Today, she works with dedication and compassion in the healthcare field at Charak Hospital Private Limited, Indore.
